

Posted by foodlover on 07 Dec 2009 11:17
★★★★★

Tsuru was a nice little surprise for a Saturday evening around Southwark. The service was warm and welcoming. We ordered a Scallop and Tiger prawn, and a Chicken Kara-age side. The food was really fresh and tasted amazing. It was decently priced too. I look forward to eating there again.

Report this comment as inappropriate

Posted by Trolley on 04 Sep 2009 20:33

This is one of my local restaurants, and one of the best in Borough by far as far as general cuisine goes, let alone specialised Japanese food. The only other competition in it's genre is Feng Sushi, and that place doesn't even come close to the prices, standards, atmosphere & service of Tsuru. It's a real treat to be able to go somewhere where everything is so fresh & tasty, especially somewhere so convenient to where I live. Staff are always amazing, they have Asahi on tap (what more could you want, really?) and vegetarian options are to die for.

Report this comment as inappropriate

Posted by kk on 30 Aug 2009 20:24
★★★★★

Tsuru has become a staple for me. I work right around the corner and find myself back at Tsuru at least 3-4 times a week. I'm Japanese and grew up in Ca. and I missed my Japanese fix when I moved to London. I was thrilled when Tsuru opened as it gave me many authentic Japanese dishes to choose from. Everything from the Curry (which is actually close to mom's curry), Karage, and Hijiki Salad. The staff are great and always welcoming. They got to know me by name right away and I always feel very looked after while I'm there. I hope you all support Tsuru, as I hope it remains a Southwark staple and hopefully even more will pop up around London. scene.

Report this comment as inappropriate

Posted by CG on 26 Aug 2009 20:08
★★★★★

Food is great - have to try the Katsu curry and everyone is always friendly whenever I go in. I often walk all the way from Farringdon to come over for lunch, far better than the usual bland sushi you get everywhere else in London

Report this comment as inappropriate

Posted by Kev on 26 Aug 2009 15:47
★★★★★

I couldn't disagree with Nomadnz more. I eat at Tsuru every 2 weeks or so and the staff have always looked very happy and have treated me really well. The sushi is as good as I have had at the best Japanese restaurants I've been to (and I've been to a lot). The prices are not very high and perfectly fine for the quality of the ingredients. If you want lower prices and are not bothered about good quality then Yo Sushi is probably more your thing. I really couldn't recommend Tsuru more. In my top five things to do around Borough.

Report this comment as inappropriate

Posted by angharad on 26 Aug 2009 15:42

great fresh produce and really interesting menus - lots of variety and a relaxed fun atmosphere... nice to see a small independent developing some innovative nights with live music etc. definately one of my favourites for after work

Report this comment as inappropriate

Posted by Marcus on 26 Aug 2009 15:23
★★★★★

Don't know what Nonadnz is talking about. I've always found the service to be great here [as well as the food]. Marcus

Report this comment as inappropriate

Posted by Adrian Mitchell on 26 Aug 2009 14:36
★★★★★

Tsuru is a breath of fresh air in brand-loaded Canvey Street: the food is always fresh and flavoursome (sourced locally from nearby Borough Market I believe), the staff friendly and knowledgeable and the venue itself is small yet perfectly formed; great for an intimate Tokyo-inspired lunch or supper. It's also wonderfully independent so give it a go!

Report this comment as inappropriate

Posted by Emma Luckie on 26 Aug 2009 14:31
★★★★★

I love this place, the food is great- well presented, fresh and very tasty. I really enjoy the atmosphere too, the interior is well designed and welcoming and the outside area adds to the relaxed feeling of this place. The staff are always friendly and the service is good. My friends and I have been back to this place loads of times and always enjoy the experience.

Report this comment as inappropriate

Posted by Curly Fries on 26 Aug 2009 14:26
★★★★★

I ended up here yesterday having been recommended it by a Japanese friend and I wasn't disappointed in the least: my California maki was absolutely DIVINE and I could NOT get enough of whatever that aubergine stuff is. My other half was pretty much licking his katsu tray so I think that went down well too. All the staff were mega helpful and friendly, the manager lady that served me was extremely pleasant and I'll definitely be going back for more of that aubergine.

Report this comment as inappropriate

- See all bars & pubs near Tsuru
- See all restaurants near Tsuru

Most viewed restaurants

- Angels & Gypsies
- Santa Maria del Sur
- Princess of Shoreditch
- A La Cruz
- Seventeen

Exclusive offer: Get 50% off in over 800 London restaurants

Time Out has teamed up with tastelondon to offer you a fantastic one month free trial

Sign up today

Just drinking?

See Bars & Pubs

Date of the day

anna1970

I am a fun loving, caring, person who enjoys, walking in hyde park, running, going to theatre, cinema, galleries, eating out and travelling

More dates